National FBLA Secretary Announced from Maryland

Orlando, Florida – July 2024 – The Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA) is proud to announce Olivia Herrin from Maryland as the new National Secretary for the 2024-2025 membership year.

Herrin was elected National Secretary at the 2024 FBLA National Leadership Conference in Orlando. This prestigious appointment follows Herrin's outstanding service as a state officer for three years and her role on the Eastern Region Council for one year.

From Northern High School in Owings, MD, Herrin's six years of experience in FBLA starting from the middle school level has empowered her to become a representative at the national level. With her new role as National Secretary, Herrin will play a pivotal role in connecting states across the nation, advocating for FBLA members, and delivering resources to help future business leaders excel.

The Future Business Leaders of America is the largest career student business organization in the world, with a quarter of a million members and advisers in middle schools, high schools, and colleges across the United States. FBLA prepares students for careers in business and business-related fields through academic competitions, leadership development, and educational programs.
